SINCE men have existed, their main business has been to collect information and convey it from their own minds to the minds of other men, and this process has gradually brought about civilization.

VERY ancient gentlemen wrote what they had to say on bricks, in strange characters, and baked the bricks.

The Egyptians made hieroglyphics on monuments, with strange, angular men, birds and other animals. They would have been horrified by the typewriter "so unartistic" and hasty.

THE PHOENICIANS invented our short alphabet. The Chinese gave us the alphabet of 5,000 characters and more.

NOW comes, most interesting of all, the news-reel theater, on Broadway, in New York, where pictures, moving and talking, show the news of the day.

THE news-reel theater, crowded before 12 o'clock in the morning, many standing in the rear, showed yesterday young soldiers of Switzerland drilling, with wonderful precision. Knowing that every man in Switzerland has military training, taught to command, as well as obey, you realize why other nations let the Swiss alone.

YOU see and hear Sir Oliver Lodge, a truly great man, perhaps the greatest living scientist, discussing interstellar space and the power residing in "vacuum."

From all over the world the Hearst Metro news reels and the Fox Movietone bring news of the world and sound accompanying them.

THERE will be such news-reel theaters in every city soon.

From hieroglyphics, in stone, to pictures of yesterday's events moving and talking before your eyes, is one of the longest steps that civilization and science have ever taken.

FOLLOWING the official visit of the King and Queen of Italy to the Pope, their son, Crown Prince Humbert, and his younger sisters, Princesses Giovanna and Maria, called at the Vatican to pay their respects to Pope Pius, accompanied by the Italian ambassador to the Holy See.

AS the royal young people ascended the broad staircase, leading to the Pope's apartments, three flights up, Swiss guards in Michael uniforms designed by Michael Angelo saluted them, on the landing.

THE pope received them in the throne room, where the three knelt and kissed the pope's hand, the pope immediately raising them, presenting valuable gifts of a religious character at the end of the audience.

$7,000 Fire Sweeps Garage in Lisbon

FOUR AUTOS DESTROYED AS BLAZE SPREADS
No Insurance on Property of C. E. Burnett.
STOVE - BLAMED
Volunteer Firemen Save Home of Bert Burns.

Four automobiles were destroyed when a two-story frame garage in West Chestnut street, Lisbon, owned by C. E. Burnett, taxicab operator, was swept by fire at 3 o'clock this morning. The loss is estimated at $7,000, upon which there was no insurance.

Home of former County Auditor Burns, across the alley from the garage, was spared by the flames. Volunteer firemen saved the dwelling by keeping their hose trained upon the side and roof of it.

The fire, believed to have been caused by an overheated stove, was discovered by Dalton Pike, Lisbon policeman, who turned in the alarm. The blaze had gained too much headway to permit removal of the four cars when the fireman arrived.

Many telephones in the north-west section of the county east village were put out of commission by the blaze. Repair crews expected to have the telephones back in service late today.

UNITED STATES SIGNS WORLD COURT PLEDGE

Absence of Ceremony At Session in Geneva.

MOFFAT ENVOY Membership Dependent Upon Senatorial Ratification.

GENEVA, Dec. 9.—(INS)—With the exception of senatorial ratification, the United States became an active member of the World Court here today when Jay Pierpont Moffat, American charge d'affaires at Berne, Switzerland, signed the articles of adherence to the institution.

Moffat was acting under the authority of President Hoover. The signing was done with almost an utter absence of ceremony.

This was the second time the United States signed the articles of adherence to the international court, of which virtually all the countries of Europe are members. The first time was in 1920, when the then American minister at Berne signed on behalf of the United States.

On this occasion, however, the senate demanded reservations which were held unsuitable by the other nations. Since that time, the articles of the World Court have been amended in such a fashion that American entry is now believed agreeable to the United States senate.

Three Documents Signed.
The leading nationals of Europe have approved the changes in the court protocol. It is now believed senatorial ratification of today's signing will be forthcoming shortly.

The signing follows announcement made by President Hoover in his Armistice day address, when (Continued on Page Eight, Col. 3.)

TEACHER SLAIN IN BEDROOM; DENTIST HELD

Pretty Girl Clubbed To Death in Rockford, Ill.

WEIRD CRIME

Suspect Intoxicated For Two Weeks, Police Say.

ROCKFORD, Ill., Dec. 9.—(INS)—An attractive young school teacher slain in her bedroom, the arrest of a well-known Rockford dentist, five dead cats found in his automobile and a dead mouse found in his pocket, today presented a weird kaleidoscope of events to police who are attempting to solve the mysterious crime.

The school teacher, Miss Cordelia Gummertscheimer, was found apparently clubbed to death with an iron pipe which the slayer had obtained not far from her apartment.

The imprint of a man's hand upon her body, a footprint on the bedspread and fingerprints on the pipe were the only tangible clues police had to work upon.

The dentist, Floyd Leach, 36, had been intoxicated for two weeks, police said, and was unable to account for his actions during that time.

Wanted for Wife Desertion.
Leach is being held for questioning. An extradition hearing is scheduled for January 6 when a judge will rule upon the request of California authorities that the dentist be brought back to Los Angeles to face charges of deserting an invalid wife. Leach is under $1,000 bond.

Police said the five cats had been clubbed over the head with a pipe. The manner in which the mouse met death is not known.

The office in which the dentist worked is next to the apartment building of the teacher.

Three Girls Find Body.
From a cursory examination and pending a post-mortem today, detectives stated they believed the young woman had been criminally attacked.

The body was discovered by three girls, whom Miss Gummertscheimer was to have given German lessons. She had been dead about 18 hours, physicians declared.

Leach has been practicing in Rockford about a year, coming here from Hollywood where he was said to have been the dentist for many prominent moving picture stars.

Feeling of Security Follows President's Action.

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti, Dec. 9.—(INS)—Although an undercurrent of uneasiness was still felt, quiet prevailed throughout this republic today.

37 Alleged Morphine Tablets Found in Cigarettes in Jail

Dope Mailed to Prisoner in Columbus Cell.

LONDON, O., Dec. 9.—(INS)—Thirty-seven alleged morphine tablets were discovered in a package of cigarettes which was mailed to James McKirgan of Columbus, who is being held in jail here for a purported blackmail attempt against Dr. W. D. Gardner, of Plain City, according to Sheriff Ed Blaucher today.

The package was sent to McKirgan by his wife, Mrs. Belle McKirgan, of Columbus, Sheriff Blaucher said.

Blaucher had been suspicious of McKirgan's actions for some time and believed the prisoner had been receiving dope, but could not locate the source of the supply.

The tablets were in one of four packages in which the cigarettes had been broken so that dope could be placed in the package and then packed with cotton so that the tips of the cigarettes were kept even with the others.

The government stamp on the package apparently had been steamed off and then replaced.

DOCTOR'S TIP ENDS COLD CAUGHT IN OFFICE DRAFT

Quick, Tempting Way to Stop Head Cold, Cough, Chest Cold Now Used By Many Here

Numbers of East Liverpool people have found that colds can be ended quickly—often in a few hours—by a method that is temptingly pleasant to use. And doctors have certified this as the best of different widely used methods tested for head colds, coughs and chest colds—even in extreme hospital cases.

Mrs. Leland E. Marston, for example, was treated for a severe head and chest cold caught while working for hours in a "drafty" office. Just a few pleasant doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, her doctor reports, gave surprisingly quick relief. By night she had overcome the disagreeable "creaky" stage of her cold and in the morning her fever was gone. Examination next day showed that this hospital-certified medication had removed all trace of the cold.

Cases reported daily in this paper are certified by the attending physician. They show that Ayer's Pectoral is ideal for home use among adults and children. That's why leading East Liverpool druggists guarantee quick, sure relief, or prompt refund of the small cost.

Are YOU Getting YOUR MONEY'S WORTH In Entertainment?

The American people pay more generously for entertainment than any nation on earth. Their generosity has enriched the motion picture industry.

Spoken dialog has come to replace the subtitle of the silent picture. Tagging along with the talkies comes Mechanical Music—an economy.

Real Music is being ordered out of many theatres in favor of this new comer, who never dared a theatrical appearance until he gained the protection of the Talking Picture's novelty and the magic word "Synchronized." Now synchronization with a picture does not give Mechanical Music the quality of Real Music.

Banishment of Living Music represents a loss for the theatre patron. Is this loss balanced by the substitution of Mechanical Music?

A very great many theatre-goers will answer:

"NO!"

Then why should the aforementioned American people, who pay so generously for entertainment, be required to take less for their money than they were wont to get?

Operations of Red

Discovery.

MOSCOW.—The chewing gum which bushy-haired, dirt-caked Khirgisan cowboys munched for centuries to keep their mouths moist in the deserts of Turkestan may revolutionize the rubber industry of the world.

Soviet scientists have succeeded in manufacturing soft rubber articles like soles for shoes, automobile tires and overshoes out of this precious stuff that the natives called "sagus."

Professor G. G. Bosse has disclosed the manner in which the new rubber was discovered. Chief of the rubber trust experimental laboratory says:

"Firm in the belief that there were plants in the Soviet Union from which a substitute for ordinary rubber could be obtained, the laboratory experts sent out thousands of letters to school teachers, county agriculture agents and chairmen of village Soviets. Placards announcing the hunt for rubber were hoisted in market places.

Specimens Studied.

"Hundreds of replies were received with specimens of plants and resinous substances. All of them were carefully examined in the laboratory. Of the few picked for further investigation, two desert weeds known as chondrilla ambigua and chondrilla juncea, growing wild in Turkestan, were believed to hold the greatest possibilities.

"It was then discovered that Khirgisans chewed a chicle obtained from a root secretion of the chondrilla ambigua.

"A red beetle called Sphenoptera was found to be a parasite that preyed on the chondrilla ambigua. It bored into the ground at the base of the plant into the thick, starchy roots. Out of this wound, the plant excreted a gummy sap which coagulated into a bulbous growth.

Burial was made in the McKeesport cemetery.

I HAD TO FORCE MYSELF TO WORK

But I Had Renewed Energy, Fine Appetite and Could Sleep After Taking Owa-Ton-Na.

Almost beyond belief are some of the cases of stomach, liver, kidney and bowel ailments, neuritis, rheumatism and extreme nervousness which are yielding to Owa-Ton-Na. Mr. Lee Talbott, Harker avenue, East End, East Liverpool, Ohio, who for ten years has been suffering with a run down condition of health, says that he was really surprised at the results this fine medicine shows in a very short time. Mr. Talbott says that the headaches he suffered with at times made him feel as though his head would split.

His liver was in a very bad condition and he was forever tired and worn out even after sleeping all night. This condition seemed to get worse, bringing with it dizziness and a dull, tired feeling. He says: "When I tried Owa-Ton-Na, I did not feel that the first bottle would do me a great deal of good, but I want to say that it made a great change in my condition."

"Almost from the first dose I could see that my system was getting a real cleansing. My stomach seemed to tone up and my appetite improved greatly. I seemed to have renewed energy and when I got up in the morning, I did not feel tired. Dizziness disappeared too, and I lost that grouchy, irritable feeling. I can certainly recommend Owa-Ton-Na to those who are suffering as I did."

Owa-Ton-Na assists nature in a natural way to eliminate the disease-producing poisons from the

"It was these bulbs that the natives gathered by pulling up the whole plant and boiling down the bulbs. The pickers received 75 kopeks (40 cents) a kilogram for the bulbs.

"Artificial cuts on the roots of the plant produced the same results with unfailing regularity. Hence, scientists have planted several hundred acres of the weed for large scale experiments. The gummy bulbs contain about 20 per cent pure soft rubber and a considerable quantity of resin. With large scale scientific planting, it is hoped to reduce the cost of the raw bulbs to 15 cents a kilogram, which would make the cost of a kilogram of rubber about 75 cents.

Millions Saved.

"In addition to the saving of millions of dollars annually in gold for imported rubber, the discovery will have an important political meaning in developing and populating the troublesome province of Turkestan. To supply the needs of the Soviet Union with rubber, several hundreds of thousands of people would have to be settled in the deserts for the raising of chondrilla on territory which today is an absolute loss to the country.

"The government has appropriated $500,000 for large-scale experiments and planting of the weed. Only after these experiments will it be known to what extent the new rubber will be commercially profitable."

With foreign credits and the gold supply as scarce as it is in Soviet Russia, however, the internal domestic cost of production could be 100 per cent above the world market price of ordinary rubber and still be profitable.

Keep Kettles Boiling!

In keeping with a plan which has been successful in bygone years, the Salvation Army has launched its kettle campaign to provide funds for Yuletide happiness for deserving families in East Liverpool, Wellsville, Chester and Newell.

Field Major Joseph Hughes and his co-workers expect to distribute baskets of food for Christmas dinners for 300 families in the district, while plans also have been made for distribution of coal and other winter relief.

Approximately $2,500 will be required to finance a four-month program which will extend into April. Aside from canvassing in pottery plants, Christmas kettles offer the only means of obtaining funds for this all-important work.

Every man, woman and child can help this worthy cause. But many contributions will be necessary if the average deposit is less than one dollar. However, nickels, dimes, quarters and half-dollars are acceptable.

Help spread Christmas joy by keeping the Salvation Army kettles boiling.

Efficiency and The Housewife

James J. Davis, secretary of labor, broadcast an interesting suggestion via the radio recently. It was an appeal that will be mentioned in every home where there is a division of labor between the wife and the husband—an eight-hour day for housewives. Every fair-minded husband will accept it at its face value.

What is the face value? Suppose the housewife were to begin her day at the time the breadwinner gets up to go to work. She could have a light breakfast on the table by 6:15, if she rose at 6 o'clock. Lunch hour means nothing except an increase of responsibility and it is seen that her day ends at 2 o'clock, in the afternoon. She hangs up her apron and relaxes. It is entirely probable that children could be taught by necessity to ask all their questions, pound all their fingers and tear all their clothes before quitting time.

The father arrives home at 4 o'clock and takes over the duties of getting the dinner, washing the dishes, cleaning up the children, feeding the dog and get everything in shipshape for bed time. He might even have to prepare the food for tomorrow's breakfast, or put away the things he has marketed on the way home. There would be no grumbling, because his wife's square deal would be the prime consideration.

Possibilities are unlimited. If the housewife preferred to start her day at 11 o'clock, the husband could get the breakfast, dress the children and get them started to school, or at least out of the way until school time. His evening duties would be limited to getting them to bed, clearing up the dishes and the mending.

There is no argument. The plan is startling in its simplicity. The only flaw is that the husband might demand an eight-hour day too. That would necessitate more servants and decrease unemployment.

Housewifery isn't an eight-hour day proposition and Secretary of Labor Davis has indulged himself in some foolish whims if he thinks America's housekeepers are clamoring for it.

Business Confidence

The general tone of the Ohio business conference which met at Cleveland recently was one of optimism for state industries. Business prospects for the coming year are believed to be sound. No credence is given the rumors of adverse conditions which have arisen since the recent stock market debacle and the fearful are encouraged to stop their trembling.

Ohio business is whistling, but it is not whistling in the dark. The merry notes are an expression of confidence and firm belief that basic conditions are all right, and, in this particular case, have been all right for a long time. Its whistle is that of a well-informed courageous man who goes about his work energetically while his neighbors are indoors waiting for a storm whose approach has been heralded by rumor. The timid will lose out in competition.

It is not pessimism that business has to fear; it is skepticism. No one believes that conditions are unmitigatedly bad, but there are many who doubt that they can remain good. Prosperity has been the shibboleth so long that some have begun to doubt the existence of more territory to conquer. It is they who have started the rumors of "bad" conditions. It is they who have turned dark looks toward the future and have shaken their heads in doubt.

Public doubting is a dangerous practice, unless justified by actual conditions recognized to be unfavorable by the leaders. If business were rushing pell-mell into some pitfall, the doubters might perchance be lucky enough to avert some disaster, but business is not rushing—it is progressing along safe, sound routes to continued healthy prosperity.

Adverse rumors always multiply faster than favorable rumors, because fear helps their distribution. Cities have been ruined by expressing fears of unseen depressions, which, through the cumulative effect of the spoken word, have become painfully real and materialized with disastrous effects. The calamity howler is rarely disappointed, because he creates his own product.

Ohio business is justified in holding its chin high. The example will be valuable to skeptics in this stage and others as well. At the close of 1929, there is nothing to fear, but, if during the year 1930, one of the bugaboos painted by the skeptics should spring up, it will be less likely to attack a confident business world than one which awaits only the hang of a gun before it turns tail and commits itself to a hasty retreat.

HASKIN LETTER DAILY

By Frederic J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 9.—Two factors operate to prevent the use of much machinery in farming in Switzerland, according to the Agricultural Survey of Europe which has just been prepared by Asher Hobson. One is the size of the farms and the second the fact that so much of the tilled land is on terraced hillsides. Forty-one per cent of the farms in Switzerland is less than 7 1/2 acres in extent; 83 per cent less than 25 acres; and only 3 per cent of the farms contains more than 74 acres.

In some of the valleys mowing machines are employed in cutting hay, one of the major crops, but for the most part the scythe still is used. With most of the farms on narrow strips of terraced lands, supported by retaining walls, the difficulty of getting mechanical farming implements to them would be great in the first place and, in the second, each parcel to be planted, cultivated, or harvested is too small to make application of machinery worth while. The fact that one farm will have tiny strips of land two or three miles from each other emphasizes this difficulty.

Then, too, for the man who has but 5 or 40 acres in his farm all told, the cost of machinery represents too large an investment in relation to the work which can be obtained in return. According to American standards labor is cheap. Plowman receive about $3 a week in addition to board and lodging. Women field hands appear to have a higher value than men for their wages are reported as $2.21 a week while men receive but $1.38. Dairying is one of the principal branches of husbandry in Switzerland and pays the highest rates, milkers receiving $4.39 a week with board and lodging. Low costs of labor always operate to discourage the introduction of machinery if nothing else does. In Switzerland every factor so operates. Indeed, some fields are so small that a reaper and binder would not have room to turn around; some are no larger than the machine itself.

Perhaps the principal reason why the Swiss farmer is well content to remain on his land is the fact that the average farm homestead is of story-book picturesque. The Swiss chalet type of architecture, familiarized to American eyes by the cuckoo clock and pictures on calendars, is general. The widespread roofs with broadly overhanging eaves are necessitated by the heavy snows of winter. Every farmhouse is so built. Most of them are large and dwelling house and barn are under one roof as a rule, the combined structure giving the effect of great commodiousness and comfort.

Life is simple. The homestead is its center and almost its whole. The Swiss peasant care little for going to town. In summer the houses are surrounded by flower and vegetable gardens. Perhaps because every uncultivated patch of ground and every crevice in the rocks is filled with the greatest profusion of wild flowers, the farm people seem to take chief delight in their kitchen gardens. Whereas in this country it is not uncommon to spend recreational time and to receive company in the flower garden, in Switzerland the company is received in the kitchen garden among the rows of growing vegetables which are tended as carefully as prize rose bushes.

The Swiss farmer takes so much pride and interest in his farmstead that the value of the buildings is out of all proportion to the total value of farms if a comparison be made with the United States or almost any other agricultural country. A 10-acre farm will have a farmstead of many rooms, stalls for cattle, hay mows and granaries, with such out-buildings as are required. The same building plant would be adequate to farm 100 acres. The structures on the average farm usually represent one-fourth of the value of the whole property and represent on an average valuation of $170 per acre for the total farm acreage.

Switzerland never has suffered from the curse of tenant farming which has been the bane of many countries, Ireland for example, and which is general in the United States. More than four-fifths of the farms are worked by the owners. This makes for the highest efficiency in farm operation and for a solidarity in the farm community rarely found elsewhere.

For such tenants and hired workers as there are there is a strong fellow feeling, for all love the land. However, laws have been enacted which protect both employer and employee. Even when no labor contract has been drawn up between a farmer and a hired hand, neither party can terminate the employment without 15 days' notice.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Diary of a modern Peppy: Up and talked to Billy De Beck, newly home from two years in France and to my puttering tasks. Outside my window a street musician began playing on a piccolo and I waved him away but he waved back as though receiving a greeting.

In the afternoon to Larchmont to see a gentleman who has acquired a three months old cub bear, chubby and playful as a kitten, and it became friends with my dog, although the latter constantly bristled as though scenting danger. Home through Harlem.

Abroad with my wife to dine and we had a dessert of flaky pie crust rolled in nuts and spread with honey, as delicious as ever I tasted. So driving through white lit Broadway and past the old Hotel Majestic, where we used to live, now dark and despoiled by wreckers.

Jed Harris seems to have definitely passed up Broadway and at 39 is in a state of semi-retirement in Europe. He is variously reported occupying a town house in London and a villa on Lake Como. One thing is sure, his theatrical offices are closed and his name in gilt scratched from the door.

Harris became an overnight figure in that odd microscopic phenomenon we call the Rialto less than two years ago. At one time he had seven shows running, three on Broadway and four on tour—and his income was $10,000 a week. Just as suddenly he tired and sailed away.

He was born on the Newark outskirts, the son of a large Jewish family. He is thin, pale, and as brittle as spun glass but has the burning black eyes and flaming enthusiasm of the zealot. He weighs only 120 pounds. Among his eccentricities was to go for weeks without shaving.

With customary Broadway scepticism most people thought Harris—born Jacob Horowitz—was a type of show-off peculiar to the street and regarded his affectations as a pose. His genius as a theatrical producer, however, could not be denied. He burst upon the district, after knocking about as a road show press agent, with the smash hit "Broadway." He followed and repeat your question.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention is Worth a Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

Did you ever try sleeping out-of-doors, under the stars, with the singing pines above you and the mountain air to lull you to sleep?

What an experience this if after a strenuous day in the open! If you have had this privilege you know the deep and tranquil sleep that restores body and mind.

A physician will tell you that you cannot sleep well unless you are sufficiently tired. Most of us know from experience that this is true. A laborer is likely to say he sleeps so soundly that he never dreams. It would seem that the type of work or the activity which we indulge in has much to do with the quality of sleep we enjoy.

Bodily activity and mental activity both produce certain poisons which circulate through the body. These cause chemical changes in the system. Perhaps one reason we have continued sleep is because it is only in sleep that these poisons are eliminated faster than they are produced.

The brain suffers more from such poisons than do the muscles. If we use the brain for a long continued time without sleep, no opportunity is afforded for getting rid of the accumulating poisons. Then there may be a tendency not to sleep.

Doubtless you have noticed that if you have gone to bed with your mind active and without having had the necessary physical exercise, you have remained sleepless. You should exercise the body by a long, vigorous walk before bedtime, if you have a habit of not sleeping. Then stop thinking about whether you are to sleep or not. People think too much about this insomnia business. Suggestion has much to do with sleeplessness. If you are fearful that you will not sleep, the chances are that sleepless you will be.

Dismiss your worries, business or otherwise, at the end of the day. Happy is the man who learns to do this. Happy is the woman who refuses to worry and holds to an optimistic outlook on life in general.

Persons of sedentary habits, and those who use up their mental energy, should have physical exercise. Have a hobby: Play golf or tennis in moderation. Walking is one of the best exercises. Any one of these will keep you fit. You should make it possible to be out-of-doors from one to two hours daily, and if you cannot be out in the day-time, take an evening walk, and thereby tone up your nervous system.

Sleep is little understood by the medical profession. People differ greatly as to the amount of sleep they need. Some people must have ten hours and others seem to thrive on five! Just why is a mystery.

The quality of sleep is the important factor. A person of the nervous type usually requires more sleep than one with a calm, even temperament. A calm mind and normal health are the requisites for the healthful sleep that speedily refreshes. If you have good health you will sleep deeply.

Mr. MacDonald's government is not likely to get much comfort out of the reaction in Moscow to the statement by Arthur Henderson, British foreign secretary, that a guarantee given by the soviet government against Communist propaganda in Great Britain is binding upon the Communist International. Official Moscow says in effect, "Tis no such thing." It pulls the old moth-eaten contention that the soviet government and the Internationale are separate institutions, and that the former has no control over the latter. Or, as an anonymously quoted "official" spokesman for the soviet is reported to have put it: "It is clear that the guarantee obligates only the soviet government, not the Communist Internationale, which is an independent, international organization on behalf of which the soviet government can not contract obligations."

The plea that the Moscow government can not control the Internationale is, of course, a lying one. The soviet government is absolute in Russia and can control any Communist propaganda it wants to control. It can act with particular ease and dispatch in the case of the Internationale because the personnel of the outfit is substantially the personnel of the government as far as the directing factors are concerned.

The Moscow government knows perfectly well that the whole world is aware of this, but the impudence of the outfit keeps it undisturbed by such a detail. The British government has allowed itself to be caught twice in the same net, which is all that interests Moscow, now the entanglement seems to be safely completed. —Detroit Free Press.

Another odd genius of the Jewish faith was Louis Marshall, the great lawyer and philanthropist, who died in Switzerland a month or so ago. He was rich, but always rode on street cars. He followed baseball scores carefully, but never attended a big league game. He gave fortunes away, but often saved uncancelled stamped envelopes and readressed them. If one did not return a borrowed book, he would call for it.

And Irvin Cobb tells of the little Hebrew plugging along in an asthma flivver who was passed on the roadside by a Rolls that came up from behind like a blue streak. The Rolls stopped for 20 minutes a little further on and the flivver owner drew up, torn, bleeding and bruised.

"It was your fault," he screamed. "You went by so fast I thought I had stopped and got out to pick wild flowers."

Bebe Daniels Sings In Rio Romance

The voice that has been the talk of Hollywood this season will be heard from the screen of the Ceramic theater this week.

It belongs to Bebe Daniels and will be heard singing the songs of "Rio Rita," the Radio Picture operetta sensation.

In all the revolutions and surprises talking pictures have brought into the film industry, nothing has created more of a sensation than the "discovery" of the remarkable singing voice possessed by this favorite of the silent screen.

Opposite Bebe in the film version of Flo Ziegfeld's most famous musical show will be seen John Boles, erstwhile favorite of the musical comedy stage, and the tenor most in demand in talking pictures.

The cast which has transferred the Broadway hit to the sound screen is a large one and includes many favorites of both stage and screen. Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey will be seen in the comedy roles they created in the stage version of "Rio Rita." Dorothy Lee, the baby-talk comedienne of "Syncope;" Helen Kaiser, one of Ziegfeld's "glorified" girls; Georget Renavert, French stage star; Don Alvarado and Nick de Ruiz, former tenor of the Metropolitan Grand Opera Company, are others in the large featured cast.

Much of the film was photographed in technicolor. The sets and costumes which dress this romantic operetta of the Rio Grande country are the most sumptuous yet seen on the sound screen.

Wisecracks Mark "Red Hot Rhythm"

SENIOR PLAY DEC. 16 AND 17

Cast of Nine in Three-act College
Comedy.

NEWELL, W. Va., Dec. 9.—Nine members of the senior class of the W. E. Wells high school comprise the cast for the playlet, "That's One on Bill," a three-act college comedy, to be presented in the school auditorium on Monday and Tuesday nights, December 16 and 17, under the direction of Miss Mildred Stevenson, high school teacher.

Earl Baldwin and Walter DeLeon, ace fiction and scenario writers, are responsible for the repartee and wit, couched in typical "Big Stem" parlance, which mark this story of Tin Pan Alley and Broadway night life. Both are former residents of the "Big Burg" and know at first-hand the prototypes of the characters in "Red Hot Rhythm."

In addition to Hale, in the principal role, the stage and screen notables in this dialogue singing-dancing film include Kathryn Crawford, Josephine Dunn, Walter O'Keefe, Ika Chase and Anita Garvin.

Chester Conklin In "The Virginian"

Chester Conklin and his mustache are reconciled.

After a separation that endured through his last screen role, the character comedian and his mustache will be seen together for the duration of Conklin's participation in the action of "The Virginian," which comes to the American theater today for a week's run.

He plays the role of Uncle Hughey in the picture, an adaptation from the novel by Owen Wister. It was during the screening of Zane Grey's "Stairs of Sand" that Conklin laid his mustache on the shelf.

In "The Virginian" Conklin helps in the support of a cast which has Gary Cooper in the title role, Walter Huston in the role of Trampas, the villain; Richard Arlen as Steve, the youth who couldn't go straight, and Mary Brian as Molly Wood, the school-ma'am with whom Cooper falls in love.

Rehearsals will be held nightly in the high school building. Proceeds will be used to defray expenses of the class trip to Washington, D. C., next May. The seniors plan another play, which will be staged in April, and bake sales for the benefit of the fund.

Dog Saves Baby From Baboon. How an Alsatian dog rescued a baby boy from a huge baboon has been reported from Bloemfontein, Orange Free State. The baboon, escaping from the city zoo, made toward several children and was about to attack the little son of Dr. Eyber when the child cried out. Dr. Eyber's Alsatian dashed from the house and attacked the intruder. In a terrific fight which followed the dog beat off the larger animal.

FOREST LOVE

By Hazel Livingston

Thrilling Story of Romance of Modern Girl

By Hazel Livingston.
CHAPTER FORTY-SIX.

Coming home in the taxi—Jack insisted that she charge all the taxis to him—Nancy leaned back and let her hands lie limp in her lap. Not that she believed May Belle's malicious gossip... it was perfectly absurd, of course. Still, little pictures of a corpulent Jack Senior in a cook's cap and spotted apron fluttered in and out of her troubled mind, and of course it wasn't hard to think of any English gentleman as a room, they all knew so much about horses and had such red complexions... Why did May Belle repeat it? Did she think it would matter particularly to her? Had she heard about the meetings?... But she couldn't have... they had been so careful.

"I can't say that marriage has improved May Belle!" she thought angrily, glancing at the nice new gloves her hot hands had ruined. Keeping up with the Neils has been too much for her, that's what it has gone to her head. And she hasn't nearly so much to crow over as Lou, marrying a cool two million... that I could have had, if I hadn't listened to mama... not that I care, I'm glad old Lou is going to have everything. Only I wish... Oh Jack, Jack don't fail me! Don't make up with Anita... Oh I'm so unhappy... so alone... Oh Jack, come back to me, for you're all I've got left!"

She was crying in earnest, when the taxi stopped at the door.

Anita Beamer was crying too. She wished she had not come. She felt wretched—amazingly well. Better than she had felt for years. And Jack was kind enough, almost too kind. "Sure you feel all right, dear?" he asked her constantly. "My wife isn't very well, I'm worried about her," he told every one they met. So that people looked at her curiously, wondering why an old, sick woman had come on such a trip.

An old, sick woman... that was the way she looked when she held the mirror close to the window and the bright, clear light betrayed every wrinkle, every bleary, every fold of puffy, sagging skin. The bright, sport clothes she had brought were impossible. The salesgirl must have been secretly laughing at her when she sold them... but they did look different in the store, with the light soft, and her makeup just right... You couldn't do anything with makeup here, the light was too bright, and without a maid...

Anita sighed, and wiped off the rouge she had tried experimentally. Little jars and boxes of cream and powder littered the dresser, exquisite silken things were flung carelessly over chairs. It was past dinner time, and Jack would be waiting irritably, trying to control his impatience, trying to be nice to her... perhaps secretly ashamed... "I look like his mother, not his wife!" she cried miserably, staring at her ravaged face, her power broken, bleached hair. The slow tears streaked the powder, undid her patient work. She flung herself on the narrow bed, and wept.

"Maybe it was a mistake after all," she told him, late that night. "Wouldn't you rather go somewhere where there is a golf course, dear? Del Monte, or Coronado?" He stared at her, hands thrust deep into the pockets of his old Norfolk jacket—(nobody dressed for dinner here in the mountains)—powerful legs in whipcord breeches and high laced boots, wide apart. "So that's it," he said at last. "Want to get back to your specialist and the smelling salts, eh? Well, I'm not surprised. I knew it. I knew perfectly well that you'd weaken once you got here. I do. So I just thought, if you had a golf course, and I could run into bed. "My word, he must be a hundred and ten!"

Grandma Hollenbeck sat in the kitchen, silver rimmed glasses on her nose, a black tin box on the table before her. She read one yellowed paper after another, refolded it, put it away.

Kitty was out, calling on Aunt Ellie Watson as usual. Grandma was glad of that. A weight seemed to be lifted off her chest when her daughter-in-law was away. There had been so many scenes, so much unhappiness, she envied folks who could buy their way into nice, sunny old people's homes... not that she begrudged Nancy the money she had given her to buy her freedom... poor child...

Grandma wiped her spectacles. So much trouble in the world. Thank goodness that Louise was happy, and surely life would give Nancy another chance, Nancy who was so young, so pretty, so unhappy now.

If only she knew more about business! It was so confusing, with all those meaningless words, and first parties, and second parties, and whereby and wherewiths, and the big red seals.

She had not been sleeping very well. The strange phrase swam under her eyes, her eyes closed. Her head nodded. She slept, with the yellow papers scattered about.

OLD MAN ECHO CALLED BACK TO HOLLYWOOD

Welcomed From Exile As Aid to Talkie.

NEW PRINCIPLE Becomes Necessary For Realistic Recording.

HOLLYWOOD.—Old Man Echo, long an outcast from the sound stages of film, is to return from exile. Acoustic engineers of the studios have found out that he is not a bad fellow to have around, after all. In fact, sound recording has much more "depth," and one microphone will take the place of three, when there is an Echo around the sound set, they now say. Echoes were banned when talking pictures first came in because the first few sound pictures, made on the old wooden-walled stages of the silent era, sounded as though they had been made in a barrel. Going to extremes in ridding talkies of the barrel illusion, studio engineers constructed sound sets in which echo had been absolutely deadened.

Effect of Walking. Walking onto a sound set became an eerie, lost sort of feeling, as though you were walking around in somebody else's dream.

But, bye and bye, sound engineers began to notice that some recordings were better than others. That there was a difference in the quality of the sound reproduction on different stages.

Albert DeSart, sound technical director at Paramount, began to experiment, and as the result, a new principle has come into sound work, and echo is welcomed back to Hollywood.

The new principle is the audien-ces hear depth on the screen subconsciously, by comparing the loudness of the sound coming directly from the mouth of the speaker with the volume of the reverberation, or echo, reflected by the set walls.

Therefore, echo is necessary on the sound stage, for realistic recording.

Echo Deadened Stage. On the echo-deadened stage, sound naturally did not carry far, and a microphone was needed every few feet, to catch the voice. Now, with echo back in favor, only one microphone is needed, because the reverberation will help the sound to carry.

The new sound sets, being constructed at Paramount to bring back echo, are rigidly constructed, with no heavy drapes to hold the sound. All the sound-proofing is done on the other side of the set wall, the front of the structure, facing the camera being as bare and rigid as the scene will allow.

If you can wade through a novel twelve times, and smile, then you have a good chance to be a motion picture writer. Doris Anderson, one of the profession, says she reads a dozen times each novel she adapts for the screen. The first reading gives her the general impression, the subsequent ones allow her to visualize situations that will make good scenes, and to eliminate unnecessary bits of action.

Children Riot Over Slides.

When fond parents in Berlin, Germany, recently arranged an illustrated lecture for their children they did not sense the demands of modern youth. As soon as the 200 young hopefuls learned that the pictures were old-fashioned magic lantern slides instead of an up-to-date film, they started a riot. As the lecturer started to tell how coal was obtained from the earth they threw empty bottles and glasses at him and at employees of the theater, then started to demolish the interior decorations of the place. Police were called and drove the youthful rioters from the place.

Long Life on the Farm. Remarkable longevity was disclosed at the recent dinner of the Williton, England, agricultural association. Benjamin Boalch, who headed the list of aged farm hands, was 86. The other winners were 85 and 84. All the nine entrants in the class for aged women were 80 years or more. Harriet Milton, the first prize winner, was 87 1/2, and the youngest aspirant was 81. The ages of the nine totaled 750 years.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

PARIS.—The man who said the next war will be fought in the air should have specified ether.
It is strongly bruited that a wireless war will be declared between Germany and Alsace next spring.
A powerful broadcasting station will be opened near Strasburg in the spring and the populace is alarmed over reports that Germany intends to put up an even stronger station in the Black Forest.

On both sides of the frontier, apparently, it is feared that the rival station will send propaganda hurtling over the wave lengths.
Strasburg folk are certain that the Black Forest station will be employed chiefly to turn the Alsatian programs into a series of crackles and buzzes capable of making a receiving set dance with vibrations.
Surgery will soon do its share to help men and women keep their youth, according to Dr. A. L. Sorosi, New York surgeon, who recently addressed the Congress of Physicians sitting at Montpelier.
He said that examination of new born children and of men and women old before their time had convinced him that surgical correction of such faults in infancy would prolong many lives. Each of the digestive organs being interdependent, they help one another or bother, as the case may be, thus nourishing the patient as it should be nourished or bringing an old age prematurely.
The American surgeon explained to the Congress that very often pathological adhesions between the various organs were the cause of digestive trouble by limiting their free movements. Surgical operations should be performed at an early age to correct these defects.

Dr. Sorosi hall's a new surgery which will preserve the organs in the way that Nature intended them to be. "Nothing Wasted" will be the motto in the future when even the insignificant appendix will be saved.

The O. G. P. U. of Tcheka, came into style as a mysterious and occult influence around Paris when Mr. Gregory Bessedowsky, former charge d'affaires at the Russian embassy jumped over the wall surrounding this enigmatic building.
He told police that an agent of the Tcheka was inside ready to spirit him back to the homeland, tie stones to his feet and dump him into the Volga.
The Tcheka wanted to get him, he said, because his Red views were a bit off color. Since Mr. Bessedowsky's abrupt departure from the Embassy there have been a number of mysterious slayings in Europe and for each of one the word has been: "Ah, ha, the Tcheka!"

NO YULE CASH? FINANCE FIRM WILL HELP YOU

Courteous Attention Given Every Problem.

That's probably one of the most important words of the thousands and thousands in old Dan Webster's great little spelling book around about this time of the year. Because Christmas is just two and one-half weeks away. And Christmas without cash is just—well, just another day in the week.

You can talk about Christmas spirit all you choose, bright lights, tinsel and so on. But when there's no money, this spirit thing has some terrible competition to buck against. Yes, the spirit is willing, but the purse is weak.

Now, ordinarily, there is a simple way out of the predicament, if you should, unfortunately, happen to find yourself temporarily in the "air pocket" as these flier fellows say.

The East Liverpool Finance company can provide a way out, not only at Christmas but all the year 'round. You can state your wants simply to its officers and if your case is at all worthy, they'll help you. There is no red tape, no "third degree." Here you will find courtesy, understanding and interest in your own particular problem as well as desire to help.

It is managed soundly and conservatively. It is a strongly organized company all the way through, guided by business men who know their business in every detail.

If you find yourself temporarily out of funds and Christmas coming on, it would be well to seek help of the East Liverpool Finance company. Their offices are located in the Diamond.

Tydol and Veedol Given Byrd's O. K.

Success of Well Known Fuel and Lubricant Under Difficult Conditions Radioed From "Little America."

Because the Midway Oil company is fortunate enough to be able to provide district motorists with those great engine requisites, Tydol gasoline and Veedol oil, they are exceptionally proud of the part of the fuel and the lubricant has played in the success of the operations of Commander Richard Byrd and his crew in "Little America."

Two radiograms from Little America were received at the offices of the Tide Water Oil Company, New York. The first, addressed to Axel J. Byles, president of the company, from Commander Byrd, reads: "I want to send you my sincerest gratitude for your part in the success of our undertaking. Muroy and inhabitants Little America send best wishes to you and your associates."

The second, from Thomas B. Mulroy, fuel engineer of the expedition, reads: "Tide Water Oil Company products used exclusively on Byrd Antarctic Expedition."

Cold Weather Pal of Demon Fire; Are You Protected?

C. W. Arnold, Wellsville Will Advise You Expertly, on Your Needs.

When flames burst forth, let others scurry wildly about, risking their lives to save their property. You who are insured need take no such long chances.

And this all sounds very nice to sit back and read it. It's kind of funny — human nature. When we think of misfortunes, such as fire burning up somebody's house, or ruining their property, we always think about it in the light of the other fellow.

The fellow who's smart lays situations right before his own door. And the moment he realizes his needs, he acts accordingly.

When lurid flames are already licking at your valuables—then it will be too late to insure. Now is the time to visit a few minutes with C. W. Arnold, Main street, Wellsville, who carries a general line of insurance, tell him your problems, and, in expert fashion, he will tell you just exactly what you ought to carry in insurance.

It is so needless to take a chance when safety may be purchased at a few cents a year. Experience, it nothing else, proves the value of insurance. Your property can never be safe, in the exact meaning

IT'S NOT COLD WHEN YOU BURN PARSONS COAL!

More Heat, Less Ashes — You're Sure of Value.

Let the winds howl and the snow pile up outside—what do you care? Your basement is filled with Parsons Brothers coal. It gives you more heat and less ash per ton—it gives you more heat for your money—it gives you greater heating satisfaction all around.

That was genuine mid-winter cold weather spree that we had recently, with Jack Frost's fancy etchings on the window panes, the oil in the automobile like glue and the snow under your feet crackling like soda crackers.

And how did it catch you, in respect to fuel? Were you compelled to drop everything immediately, leaving important work to be done, and get your coal bins filled up?

Some of us were no doubt. But now's our chance to get prepared for the further cold weather which is bound to come.

You'll have no heating troubles or worries this winter if you let Parsons Brothers supply you with coal. Keep your home warm this winter by burning only the best you can obtain. It is highly combustible, with little soot or ash, burns evenly, regardless of what the temperature is outside and keeps your home snug and comfortable.

Parsons Brothers' fleet of trucks is ever ready to deliver your coal order at the time it is placed. A load of coal from the Parsons Brothers is all heat graded and cleaned for perfect combustion.

Don't let a cold snap catch you unprepared again — order a real supply today.

CRAWFORD'S BETHANY PASSERS HERE FRIDAY

Potters' Squad Is Cut to 27

Two Scrimmage Drills Billed This Week.

THE leather will fly fast this week in the high school gymnasium as Coach Earl Zook speeds up practice sessions for the Potters' first basketball tilt of the season, scheduled Friday night on the local court with Bethany high providing the opposition.

The Buffalo Creek contingent will be piloted here by Ronald Crawford, an East Liverpool lad and former athletic star at Bethany college. Zook, the East Liverpool coach, also is a graduate of the Bison school and the affair as a result will take on pretty much the complexion of a Bethany night all around. In fact, some one from Bethany is going to win this game.

Zook has pared the big squad of candidates to 27 men as the week's work gets under way, including Captain Harry McConville and Jo-

Strong Card Lined up For Speedy Soda Grills.

Sherer Soda Grills basketball team, Canton, well known here and throughout the upper Ohio valley has opened its annual road campaign and to date has won from the Bolivar, O., Merchants, Firestone Tire and Rubber quintet and the crack Colored Elks' five of Cleveland. The team for the fourth consecutive year is managed and booked by Rex McConnell, former local sports promoter and newspaper man.

ORMES BARBERS BEAT ELKS, 17-16

Ormes Barbers defeated the East Liverpool Colored Elks, winners of the "Y" tournament last year, Friday night on the M. E. church floor, Wellsville. With the count tied at 15-all as the game ended, the Barbers were forced to go an extra five minutes to win, 17-16.

Fullerton starred for the victors, tossing the winning basket in the overtime period.

The game was close all the way, the Elks leading by a score of 15-9 at the half. A rally evened the count for the Ormes as the game ended. Return game will be played next Thursday night at the Chester auditorium.

The personnel of the Sherer squad is much as it was last spring when the Grills battled through two days of opposition in the annual Tri-State tournament here. The three Jacobs brothers, John, Harry and Wib, are again on the team. "Red" Van Almen is again one of the big shots and looks after the coaching of the club. His brother Harry plays a guard. Ted Coombs, Glenn Adair and Morris Leiber, last year with McKimby High varsity together with Bib "Hank" Kattman, star last season on the Ohio Northern Varsity, complete the squad.

The Shearers plan to invade West Virginia the week-end, playing in Wheeling and in Parkersburg. On Thursday night of next week this club will open the season for the newly formed American Legion quintet at Sebring. The next night the Shearers are booked to play in Mt. Eaton, O. Franklin National Guard team of Franklin, Pa., and the American Legion of Monessen, Pa., have been booked for early January engagements by McConnell.

It is not likely the club will appear in the East Liverpool district until next March when it comes again to participate in the annual Tri-State tournament.

seph Chetwin, the only regular back from last year's team, plus half a dozen or more of the 1928-29 reserves and a batch of promising looking material in general.

There are quite a few members from the grid squad on the list, including Fred Altar, who captained the Potter eleven, Ashbaugh, Bowen, Clark, Dalrymple, Hawkins, Knowles, McCoy, 2 Frances Smith, Pierce and others.

McCoy and Hawkins have been unable to attend workouts regularly the last week on account of illness.

The squad this week includes the following men: Fred Altar, Charles Ashbaugh, Homer Deals, James Bowen, Charles Brant, Joseph Chetwin, William Kelly, Robert Knowles, Edward Lane, Harry McConville, Saul McCoy, Russell McHenry, George Muller, Robert Mylar, Donald Ogilvie, Thomas Pierce, Albert Reese, Gilbert Simpson, Francis Smith, Merle Smith, Thomas Snape and Richard Withrow.

Scrimmage drills probably will be held Tuesday and Wednesday nights. The squad has had very little of this to date, with Zook concentrating mostly on fundamentals.

In the single scrimmage to date, Zook used Bowen and Reese at forwards; Chetwin at center; and McConville and Lane at guards on the No. 1 team; Ashbaugh and Muller, forwards; Snape, center; and Simpson and Clark at the guards on the No. 2 quint.

As many different combinations as possible, with the time as precious as it is, will be tried this week in search of the best combinations.

Three in Race For Buckeye Cage Honors

ATHENS, Dec. 9.—The fight for the Buckeye conference basketball title is going to be a mad scramble between three teams, Ohio Wesleyan, Cincinnati and Ohio University. In the opinion of Butch Grover, head coach of the Ohio Bobcats.

Wesleyan and Cincinnati, Grover feels, were almost unhurt by graduation last year, and he expects them to be the teams which his quintet must beat out for the championship honors.

Ohio's Bobcats will be improved 50 per cent by the addition of some of the best sophomore material in recent years, Grover feels, and the Ohio tutor is not given over to rash statements.

Six veterans of last year's campaign are at hand. Captain John Brammer, who was below standard last year, seems in early practice sessions to have staged a comeback. Nolan Swackhammer, Ohio's midsize guard, should have his best year in 1929-30.

Ray Hart, a guard, and Jerry Warshower, a mate, will have gained by experience, while Charles Koterba, ill most of last season, should prove a heavy point getter. Then there is Eugene Trace, Ohio's big guard, who is expected to thrill the crowd with the same kind of playing which he flashed at the end of last season.

With three big, rangy sophomores coming up from last year's freshman quintet, Grover is quite satisfied with prospects. Bill Root, a big Columbus forward, will undoubtedly crash into the regular lineup, while George Lockman, Hamilton and Holmes Beckwith, Parkersburg, W. Va., are both big, powerful players.

Title Plum Tempts Foes In Gotham Charity Bout

Von Porat or Scott Only One Match Away From Championship Battle, Predicts Muldoon; Dempsey Referees.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—The heavyweight championship of the world, that million-dollar butterfly that many seek and only the immortal few attain, will be fluttering around the flame of a great spectacle tonight. High above the Kleig lights at Madison Square Garden, it will flaunt its gaudy wings while the discreet Philip Scott and Otto von Porat, a very abrupt one-punch man, fight their way through twelve rounds and, at the end—what? At the end, it may go winging into the open, free again to mock the men who seek it, or it may falter and fall, close to the hand of the winner.

For William Muldoon, the Allah of local boxing, has spoken and his pre-battle benediction today takes the form of an edict that tonight's winner will be only one match removed from a world's championship fight. The winner, said this man who is recognized as the tacit spokesman of the New York boxing commission, is to be faced by either Jack Sharkey or Max Schmelling within sixty days, with the title fight to follow as early as July and not later than September of next year.

Hit-and-Run Expert

The Englishman, of course, is the fanciest fighter Otto yet has encountered. The latter had knocked a few Humpty Dumpties, here and there, and once almost discontinued Paulino with a single punch, but to mention his technical knowledge out over Christmas. But never before has he been asked to nail a hit-and-run expert, and maybe it isn't in him. Hanson did it with Scott the first time Philip showed here but nobody has done it since and he ought to be better this time than ever before. He did 215 pounds for Campolo and was slow. Tonight, he won't be better than 205 and, if he really is as fast as they say he is, he can select no better time than then to prove it.

Dempsey Boosts Gate.

Thus, destiny is to ride with tonight's decision and it seems only fitting that, if a decision is necessary, Jack Dempsey, possibly the greatest of all champions, will be one of those who will under it. Dempsey, answering the call of charity, donated his services to the local Christmas fund as referee of the event and will call his shots from mid-ring, almost as great an attraction at this fight as the two men who will fight it. Dempsey never again may lift his hand in anger but he still has them running after him on the street.

No wonder, then, that the promoters are figuring on an 18,000 crowd and an $80,000 gate when the time comes to take the inevitable inventory. They were selling plenty of tickets on the strength of this event as a prize fight. But when Dempsey was announced as the referee, they started to sell them on the strip-ticket basis of five-or-no-count. It was back in that far off day when old Jeff went in there with Marvin Hart and Jack Root that a heavyweight fight or major consequence last was dignified by the presence of an ex-champion inside the ropes and naturally the boys are rallying around for this one.

The event, in fact, is liable to be a clinic of fistic experts. They say Tunney means to grace the occasion. Sharkey will be there in order to see what the immediate future holds in store for him. Johnny Risko and Tufty Griffiths also will be gazing knowingly at the spectacle. So much for the worthy profession, past and present. As for the lady, Mayor Walker of New York, and Mayor Hague, of Jersey City, will occupy first-row seats, surrounded by the bonded aristocracy. The place, as a matter of fact, will be vulgar with millionaires.

Because the limited distance of twelve rounds is suited to the pace of the sprinter, rather than the plodder, Scott seems to be getting the major play from those who fancy they can call winners in advance. The English champion simply is betting that his hand and foot and mind are quicker than Von Porat's eye. He is staking Otto to his punch and defying him to land it, for Scott is hard to hit with a right and he features a left

Take this famous prescription used constantly in place of calomel by men and women for 20 years—Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. They are harmless yet very effective. A compound of vegetable ingredients. They act easily upon the bowels, help free the system of poison caused by faulty elimination and tone up liver. Rosy cheeks, clear eyes and youthfulness make a success of life. Take Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets, nightly, know them by their olive color. 15c, 50c and 60c. All druggists.

Order for Wales Coal Cut. As the result of the government order shortening the miners' working day, South Wales has lost part of the 220,000 ton coal contract placed by the Brazilian Central Railways. South Wales mine owners feared the government order would cause an increase in the cost of production, and tried to obtain higher prices. The railways then contracted for only 80,000 tons from Wales and 50,000 tons from Germany.
